1 Introduction

This handout reviews arrays and linked lists and compares their costs for indexing, insertion, and dele

1.1 Arrays

Arrays store elements in contiguous memory so that random access by index costs O(1) time.

1.2 Linked lists

Linked lists walk from the head to a position in O(n) time, while inserting at a known node costs O(1).